

Crumbling Walls

(original, by wahiduddin)

-- from <http://wahiduddin.net> --

(capo 2)

First Chorus:

<sup>G</sup>
These crumblin' walls are fallin' down <sup>D</sup>

Verse Ideas:

<sup>Am</sup> <sup>Em</sup>
Tear 'em down, I surrender to You.

<sup>Am</sup> <sup>Em</sup>
Tear 'em down, I don't need 'em, I surrender to You.

<sup>Am</sup> <sup>Em</sup>
Oh sweet Love, I surrender to You.

<sup>Am</sup> <sup>Em</sup>
Oh my sweet sweet Love, I surrender to You.

<sup>Am</sup> <sup>Em</sup>
Oh my sweet Lord, I surrender to You.

<sup>Am</sup> <sup>Em</sup>
Yes my sweet Lord, I surrender to You.

<sup>Am</sup> <sup>Em</sup>
You're my Guide, I surrender to You.

<sup>Am</sup> <sup>Em</sup>
You're my only Guide, I surrender to You.

<sup>Am</sup> <sup>Em</sup>
Show me the way, I surrender to You.

<sup>Am</sup> <sup>Em</sup>
Guide me, I surrender to You.

Am Em
Oh my beloved, I surrender to You.

Am Em
I really love You, I surrender to You.

Am Em
Oh my Love, I surrender to You.

Am Em
My Lover, I surrender to You.

Second Chorus:

G D
La ilaha illa-llahu

Notes:

The inspiration for this meditation was a Hafiz poem (as translated by Ladinsky) that asked:

Is not most talking
A crazed defense of a crumbling fort?

This song is sung in a spontaneous and free form, based upon the singer's inspiration of the moment, a hard driving incessant rhythm, and free adaptation of the general lyrics shown above.

For more information about the mystical phrase "la ilaha illa-llah", please see the web page at:

<http://wahiduddin.net/words/tahlil.htm>